It was a shame that there was a lack of support from riders for the first of the autumn Chelveston series, this in spite of the hire of the village hall as a headquarters and some excellent catering by the club members that did turn up and Sarah.

The count of delicious home made cakes donated exceeding the number of riders.

As for the racing it was an overcast evening, after the recent good weather, with a nagging changeable wind that seemed to give no help but lots of head wind.

Bob Swannack was the club winner while Sam Barker reduced the original course record, which had been produced Neil Barford earlier in the year, by 3 minutes and 13 seconds to be fastest on the night by a big margin.

More support next week please!
